3. ProMinds

The ProMinds event was a thought-provoking initiative specifically designed for young boys, aiming to foster discussions around gender equality. Participants were presented with real-life scenarios reflecting instances where gender equality had yet to be fully realized. In these on-the-spot situations, boys were tasked with brainstorming and articulating their ideas on how to effectively address and improve the existing gender disparities.

Throughout the event, the emphasis was on cultivating progressive thinking among the participants. By encouraging them to contemplate solutions and strategies to promote gender equality, the ProMinds event sought to instill a sense of responsibility and empathy in the boys, empowering them to become advocates for positive change in their communities and beyond.

Through engaging in these discussions and exercises, participants had the opportunity to expand their perspectives, challenge societal norms, and envision a future where gender equality is not just an ideal but a tangible reality. The ProMinds event served as a platform for nurturing a generation of young boys who are not only aware of gender issues but are also actively committed to contributing to a more equitable and inclusive society.
